Supporting Information

Exploring the emissive properties of new azacrown compounds bearing aryl, furyl or thienyl moieties: a special case of Chelation Enhancement of Fluorescence upon interaction with Ca^{2+}, Cu^{2+} or Ni^{2+}.

Elisabete Oliveira,[1] Rosa M. F. Baptista,[2] Susana P. G. Costa,[2] M. Manuela M. Raposo,[2*] Carlos Lodeiro[1,3]*

[1] REQUIMTE, Department of Chemistry, FCT-UNL, 2829-516 Monte de Caparica, Portugal

[2] CQ-UM, Center of Chemistry, University of Minho, Campus Gualtar, 4710-057 Braga, Portugal

[3] BIOSCOPE Research Team, Faculty of Science, Physical-Chemistry Department, Campus Ourense, University of Vigo, 32004, Ourense, Spain.

Authors to whom correspondence should be addressed. E-mail: mfox@quimica.uminho.pt Fax: +351 253 604382 (M.M.M.R.) E-mail: clodeiro@uvigo.es Fax: + 34 988 387001 (C. L.)*

Figure S1.- Job´s plot for compound 3 in the presence of Cu^{2+}.